stakeholders and as an employer. These principles and the Principles of Practice for Workplace Rehabilitation Providers are embedded within our service delivery model, so any stakeholders can rest assured that they will receive the latest and most effective services from ORS.

ORS can assist employers, injured workers, brokers and other treaters; and have extensive experience in tailoring services to match the needs of each.

Employers and brokers can benefit from having a dedicated account manager who oversees their current cases, dedicated rehabilitation consultants in each area who know the business and duties, and expert injury prevention consultation in order to reduce workers' compensation claims and premiums.

Injured workers and treaters can rely on ORS to provide evidence based services, that are person-centric, and focused on achieving the best possible outcome for each individual person.

The funding support category that may cover these services include:

- Icare
- SIRA NSW
- Comcare
- WorkSafe ACT
- WorkCover WA

“ My life changed a lot two years ago, I was at work and I was lifting something probably a bit too heavy to lift and basically that was it. I have never really suffered anything major as far as an injury before, it felt very daunting and I thought my life was going down the gurgler. I was lost, I didn't know what to do. As far as I am concerned ORS are traffic directors, you have to be put in the right direction and ORS helped me endlessly. Absolutely, I would recommend ORS as a provider. ”
